Food and Health Committee Meeting on 10 May 2023

Food and Environmental Hygiene Department
Anti-mosquito Campaign 2023 (Phase II) in Tai Po District

Purpose

To brief Members on the arrangements and details for the Anti-mosquito Campaign 2023 (Phase II) to be launched by the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department (FEHD) in Tai Po District.

Background

2. The Anti-mosquito Campaign 2023 (Phase I) organized by FEHD was launched between 20.2.2023 and 17.3.2023. Actions taken in the district and the results are detailed at Annex I.

3. In 2022, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the number of dengue fever cases reported had dropped significantly and 26 imported dengue fever cases were recorded in Hong Kong. No Zika virus infection case, chikungunya fever case and Japanese encephalitis case were reported.

4. Dengue fever (DF) is an important mosquito-borne disease with public health concern worldwide, especially in the tropics and sub-tropics. The dengue viruses encompass four different serotypes. Dengue infection has a wide spectrum of clinical manifestations and outcomes. The disease is usually mild and self-limiting, but subsequent infections with other serotypes of dengue virus are more likely to result in severe dengue, which can be fatal. DF is not directly transmitted from person to person. It is transmitted to humans through the bites of infective female Aedes mosquitoes. Patients with DF are infective to mosquitoes during the febrile period. When a patient suffering from DF is bitten by a vector mosquito, the mosquito is infected and it may spread the disease by biting other people. DF can spread rapidly in densely populated areas that are infested with the vectors Aedes aegypti or Aedes albopictus. Besides, transmission through blood transfusion has also been reported.

5. Japanese encephalitis is a mosquito-borne disease and the Japanese encephalitis virus is transmitted by the bite of infected mosquitoes. The principal vector is called Culex tritaeniorhynchus. Japanese encephalitis mainly occurs in rural and agricultural areas of Asia and the Western Pacific. The mosquitoes breed where there is abundant water such as rice paddies and become infected by feeding on pigs and wild birds infected with the Japanese encephalitis virus. The infected mosquito transmits the Japanese encephalitis virus to humans and animals during biting. FEHD and relevant departments had already strengthened mosquito prevention and control work in the areas, including conducting joint visits with staff of the Agriculture, Fisheries and Conservation Department to the neighboring pig farms and providing technical assistance on mosquito prevention and control to the pig farmers with a view to reducing the chance of the public to contact Japanese encephalitis.

6. Zika virus is transmitted to humans mainly through bite of infected Aedes mosquitoes. Aedes aegypti, which is considered the most important vector for transmitting Zika virus to humans, is currently not found in Hong Kong; however, Aedes albopictus, which is widely present locally, is also considered as potential vector. As long as there is extensive international travel, there always remains the risk of introducing Zika virus into Hong Kong. If an overseas Zika-infected person enters Hong Kong, and is subsequently bitten by an Aedes albopictus in Hong Kong, the infected Aedes albopictus may carry the virus and lead to a secondary spread in Hong Kong. The public should therefore stay vigilant about the potential risks of mosquito-borne diseases, while the community and various government departments should make concerted efforts and actively participate in mosquito prevention and control. Besides, Zika virus can also be transmitted through blood and sex contact.

7. In order to safeguard public health and to sustain mosquito prevention and control efforts, FEHD will continue to strengthen mosquito prevention and control and organize the Anti-mosquito Campaign 2023 (Phase II) for nine consecutive weeks from 17.4.2023 to 16.6.2023.

8. The Anti-mosquito Campaign 2023 (Phase II) to be carried out under the slogan “Prevent Japanese Encephalitis and Dengue Fever Act Now!” aims to achieve the following objectives -

- (a) To heighten public awareness of the potential risk of dengue fever, Zika virus infection, Japanese encephalitis, chikungunya fever and other mosquito-borne diseases;
- (b) To encourage community participation and forge close partnership of government departments concerned in mosquito prevention and control work; and
- (c) To eliminate potential mosquito breeding sites.

Mosquito Control Operations

9. FEHD will carry out a series of operations focusing on removal of accumulation of water and mosquito prevention and control from 17.4.2023 to 16.6.2023 at mosquito breeding and potential breeding places in the district. Emphasis will be placed on locations in close proximity to human residences, schools, construction sites, public housing estates, hospitals, illegal cultivation sites, waterfront public and private cargo working areas, cross boundary check points, typhoon shelters and cross boundary ferry terminals. Please refer to Annex II for the action plan.

10. During the Campaign period, Pest Control Section of this district will deploy a total of 20 pest control teams to perform mosquito prevention and control work in accordance with the attached action plan and take the opportunity to offer knowledge and technical advice on the prevention and control of mosquito to the public.

Education and Publicity

11. On publicity and education fronts, FEHD will adopt the following measures in addition to arranging press releases, the broadcast of Television and Radio Announcements in the Public Interest and the placement of promotional posters at the major public transport facilities -

- (a) To produce publicity posters, pamphlets, banners and educational materials on prevention and control of mosquito for public circulation;
- (b) To distribute publicity materials widely through close liaison with the relevant government departments and local organizations to arouse public awareness of mosquito prevention and control;
- (c) To organize roving exhibitions at major shopping malls of housing estates and outreaching health talks for schools and management of housing estates;
- (d) To hold thematic exhibitions at the FEHD Health Education Exhibition and Resource Centre, and to include relevant information in the FEHD homepage; and
- (e) To disseminate messages on mosquito prevention and control through the Facebook page and Instagram page of Keep Clean Ambassador Ah Tak.

12. To ensure smooth implementation of the Campaign, the Pest Control Advisory Section of the department would provide technical assistance in the mosquito prevention and control operations and the related publicity and education activities.

Local Participation

13. To enlist support and active participation of this District Council in the Campaign, District Council Members and Committee Members will be invited to participate in related events, organize publicity activities and at the same time, to offer views on the mosquito prevention and control work.
