

Food and Environmental Hygiene Department
Anti-mosquito Campaign 2024 (Phase III) in Tai Po District

Purpose

To brief Members on the arrangements and details for the Anti-mosquito Campaign 2024 (Phase III) to be launched by the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department (FEHD) in Tai Po District.

Background

2. The Anti-mosquito Campaign 2024 (Phase II) organized by FEHD was launched between 15.4.2024 and 16.6.2024. Actions taken in the district and the results are detailed at Annex I.

3. As of 11.7.2024, 36 cases of DF, including 33 imported and three local cases, as well as three imported Zika virus infection cases, had been recorded in 2024. In 2023, 62 imported dengue fever cases and two imported Zika virus infection cases were recorded in Hong Kong. No chikungunya fever case and Japanese encephalitis case were reported in Hong Kong last year. In view of the high dengue activity in neighbouring areas, members of the public should carry out effective mosquito prevention and control measures proactively

4. Dengue fever (DF) is an important mosquito-borne disease with public health concern worldwide, especially in the tropics and sub-tropics. The dengue viruses encompass four different serotypes. Dengue infection has a wide spectrum of clinical manifestations and outcomes. The disease is usually mild and self-limiting, but subsequent infections with other serotypes of dengue virus are more likely to result in severe dengue, which can be fatal. DF is not directly transmitted from person to person. It is transmitted to humans through the bites of infective female Aedes mosquitoes. Patients with DF are infective to mosquitoes during the febrile period. When a patient suffering from DF is bitten by a vector mosquito, the mosquito is infected and it may spread the disease by biting other people. DF can spread rapidly in densely populated areas that are infested with the vectors Aedes aegypti or Aedes albopictus. Besides, transmission through blood transfusion has also been reported.

5. Japanese encephalitis is a mosquito-borne disease and the Japanese encephalitis virus is transmitted by the bite of infected mosquitoes. The principal vector is called Culex tritaeniorhynchus. Japanese encephalitis mainly occurs in rural and agricultural areas of Asia and the Western Pacific. The mosquitoes breed where there is abundant water such as rice paddies and become infected by feeding on pigs and wild birds infected with the Japanese encephalitis virus. The infected mosquito transmits the Japanese encephalitis virus to humans and animals during biting. FEHD and relevant departments had already strengthened mosquito prevention and control work in the areas with a view to reducing the chance of the public to contact Japanese encephalitis.

6. Zika virus is transmitted to humans mainly through bite of infected Aedes mosquitoes. Aedes aegypti, which is considered the most important vector for transmitting Zika virus to humans, is currently not found in Hong Kong; however, Aedes albopictus, which is widely present locally, is also considered as potential vector. As long as there is extensive international travel, there always remains the risk of introducing Zika virus into Hong Kong. If an overseas Zika-infected person enters Hong Kong, and is subsequently bitten by an Aedes albopictus in Hong Kong, the infected Aedes albopictus may carry the virus and lead to a secondary spread in Hong Kong. The public should therefore stay vigilant about the potential risks of mosquito-borne diseases, while the community and various government departments should make concerted efforts and actively participate in mosquito prevention and control. Besides, Zika virus can also be transmitted through blood and sex contact.

7. In order to safeguard public health and to sustain mosquito prevention and control efforts, FEHD continues to strengthen mosquito prevention and control and organize the Anti-mosquito Campaign 2024 (Phase III) for twelve consecutive weeks from 5.8.2024 to 27.10.2024.

8. The Anti-mosquito Campaign 2024 (Phase III) to be carried out under the slogan “Prevent Japanese Encephalitis and Dengue Fever Act Now!” aims to achieve the following objectives -

- (a) To heighten public awareness of the potential risk of dengue fever, Zika virus infection, Japanese encephalitis, chikungunya fever and other mosquito-borne diseases;
- (b) To encourage community participation and forge close partnership of government departments concerned in mosquito prevention and control work; and
- (c) To eliminate potential mosquito breeding sites.

Mosquito Control Operations

9. FEHD carries out a series of operations focusing on removal of accumulation of water and mosquito prevention and control from 5.8.2024 to 27.10.2024 at mosquito breeding and potential breeding places in the district. Emphasis will be placed on locations in close proximity to human residences, schools, construction sites, public housing estates, hospitals, waterfront public and private cargo working areas and typhoon shelters. Please refer to Annex

II for the action plan.

10. During the Campaign period, Pest Control Section of this district will deploy a total of 15 pest control teams to perform mosquito prevention and control work in accordance with the attached action plan and take the opportunity to offer knowledge and technical advice on the prevention and control of mosquito to the public.

Education and Publicity

11. On publicity and education fronts, FEHD will adopt the following measures in addition to arranging press releases, the broadcast of Television and Radio Announcements in the Public Interest and the placement of promotional posters at the major public transport facilities:-

- (a) To produce publicity posters, pamphlets, banners and educational materials on prevention and control of mosquito for public circulation;
- (b) To distribute publicity materials widely through close liaison with the relevant government departments and local organizations to arouse public awareness of mosquito prevention and control;
- (c) To organize roving exhibitions at major shopping malls of housing estates and outreaching health talks for schools and management of housing estates;
- (d) To hold thematic exhibitions at the FEHD Health Education Exhibition and Resource Centre, and to include relevant information in the FEHD homepage; and

- (e) To disseminate messages on mosquito prevention and control through the Facebook page and Instagram page of Keep Clean Ambassador Ah Tak.

12. To ensure smooth implementation of the Campaign, the Pest Control Advisory Section of the department would provide technical assistance in the mosquito prevention and control operations and the related publicity and education activities.

Local Participation

13. To enlist support and active participation of this District Council in the Campaign, District Council Members and Committee Members will be invited to participate in related events, organize publicity activities and at the same time, to offer views on the mosquito prevention and control work. Staff of District Environmental Hygiene Office (Tai Po) will work out the details with the District Council Secretariat.
